

Dear Forth enthusiast,

I would like to invite you to attend the 29th euroForth conference on the Forth Programming Language and Forth Processors, the international annual get-together of the Forth Community from Friday, September 27th until Sunday, September 29th at Haus Rissen, Hamburg, Germany with the traditional 4th day as an option until Monday and preceding "Forth 200X" standard days on Wednesday and Thursday.

As always, the conference is open to any Forth related topic:

Forth compilation techniques, advances in platform independence, stack based architectures, compilation techniques for stack based architectures, real-time and embedded systems solutions ...

You can contribute by presenting a Paper (20 minutes), by presenting a Poster, or by hosting a Workshop.

If you mail your paper (< 15 pages) by September 21st in PDF format to ks@send.de it will be included in the conference handouts. This is also the deadline for workshop requests.

And, as always, spontaneous contributions will be given ample space and time.

This year, you must register one month in advance by August 25th at the latest.

There is only a very limited number of double rooms available. Therefore, you should hurry up if you intend to come with your spouse!

See: <http://www.complang.tuwien.ac.at/anton/euroforth/ef13/> for the most up-to-date information.

Haus Rissen can be easily reached from the airport. Just get on the S1 commuter train that runs every 10 minutes until Blankenese (52 minutes) and then take a taxi for the last 3 km. Or continue your journey on every other S1 until Hamburg-Rissen for a 15 min walk.

I hope to see you there :)
